

Peace and Quiet: A FOCUSING-INSPIRED PRESENCE PRACTICE

- Choose a quiet place to sit or to lie down.
- Experience the outer quiet.
- Slowly turn your attention inward by softening your gaze and gently closing your eyes if you feel safe enough to do so.
- Experience your breath, however it rises and falls.
- As you breathe, invite the Spirit of Peace to fill you, to enfold you, and to flow through you.
- Inhale peace.
- Exhale peace.
- Feel your heartbeat in your chest.
- Let your heart guide you as you wonder:
 - What is the color of inner quiet?
 - What is the temperature of inner quiet?
 - What is the texture of inner quiet?
 - What is the scent of inner quiet?
 - What is the taste of inner quiet?
 - What is the motion of inner quiet?
 - What is the emotion of inner quiet?
 - What is the sound of inner quiet?
- Let your wondering dissolve in Mystery as you deepen your experience of inner quiet.
- Inhale peace.
- Exhale peace.
- When you are ready to share your peace and quiet, you can gently open your eyes.
